

Proposal for Presentation for
21st Century Community Learning Centers (21st CCLC) conference
May 29-30, 2012 in Pierre

Message to possible presenters:

From Sue Burgard, Coordinator of 21st Century Community Learning Centers Grant (21st CCLC) in the SD Department of Education

Re: Break-out presentations at State 21st CCLC Conference on May 29-30, 2012, at the Ramkota Convention Center in Pierre. The breakouts focused on for this proposal will be scheduled for the afternoon of May 29th. Successful candidates will be notified by March 31, 2012.

We are looking for proposals to include, but not limited to, successful ways to involve middle and high school students, programs that have a strong connection to the regular school day, programs that have strong community partnerships, programs that use project based learning, and programs that have great family involvement. The preceding list is not comprehensive and other session ideas are certainly welcomed and encouraged.

Attendees at the conference are directors and staff members of programs serving students in after-school and summer programming. While a high percentage of the programs have elementary students there are also many programs for middle school students and a few that target the high school level.

If your afterschool program or organization would be willing to present at the conference, please fill out the attached "Proposal for Presentation" and return it by March 19, 2012.

You can send the proposal either by email or regular mail to:
