June 3, 2015, 8:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. - Jill Jackson of Jackson Consulting

Five Teaching Truths That Matter...and it only took me 1,000,000 miles to learn them!

I've been around this country working with educators just like you for over a decade and I've learned a lot about life, people...oh, and what works, and what doesn't, in education! In this session, I will share with you my five truths about teaching. I'll remind you that "simple" works, and most likely, you have everything you need right now to start improving the quality of instruction!

Teaching Students to Critically Think About Text... One Super Simple Step at a Time!

This hands-on professional development session is designed to give you the "down and dirty" routines you need to very successfully teach students how to manage text and think critically so they can master the Core Standards. During this training, we will practice these Common Core critical thinking routines for K-12: Summarize, Theme, Analysis and Argument/Opinion. This session will make these sometimes complicated things do-able for every teacher and build your Common Core confidence along the way!

June 4, 2015, 8:30 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. - Dr. George Sugai

Dr. Sugai has published more than 135 articles, numerous monographs, and a number of college textbooks on effective teaching practices, positive behavior support, and applied behavior analysis. His research has emphasized effective applications of applied behavior analysis principles and school-wide PBS procedures to problems found in educational contexts. The subject populations for these research areas include students with severe challenging behavior, students with at-risk behaviors, and students described as having behavior disorders. Dr. Sugai is currently co-director (with Rob Horner at the University of Oregon and Tim Lewis at the University of Missouri) of the national Center on Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (www.pbis.org).

Day two will focus on School-Wide Positive Behavior Supports

(SWPBS). SWPBS provides an organizational approach or framework for improving the social behavior climate of schools and supporting or enhancing the impact of academic instruction on achievement and increasing proactive (positive/preventive) management. It is comprised of evidence-based behavioral interventions and practices that can be implemented by real users to effectively address and support the socially and educationally important behavioral needs of students and their families.
