

POLICY:
Stipends and Sub Pay
Updated: July 14, 2011

Purpose: To ensure consistency across the department related to 1) payment of stipends for state-level work done by teachers and 2) reimbursement to districts for payment of substitute teachers.

The Department of Education frequently asks practicing teachers to participate in state-level work groups related to assessments, content standards and similar topics. In order to ensure consistency, the department will pay a standard stipend of $125 per day to these teachers. In cases where the department also reimburses the school district for a substitute teacher, the department will reimburse at the prevailing rate used by the school district. Documentation must be provided by the school district confirming the rate being charged.
