Dyslexia Handbook for Teachers and Parents updated

The handbook is intended to help parents and educators learn more about dyslexia, and includes additional resources for teachers to access if they suspect a student may have dyslexia.

In 2016, the South Dakota Department of Education assembled a Dyslexia Stakeholders Group, made up of parents, educators, legislators and department staff. The group developed a five-year plan for ensuring school districts meet the needs of all students with learning disabilities. This handbook revision is part of the five-year plan.

“I greatly appreciate the Dyslexia Stakeholders Group’s dedication to helping struggling readers,” said Secretary of Education Dr. Melody Schopp. “These individuals are passionate about doing what’s best for South Dakota students, and that comes across in the five-year plan and the newly revised handbook.”
